PROFILE

Technology operations manager with ten years across Apple, Selfridges and Starling Bank. I lead teams, keep critical systems running, and I am at my best when I am developing the people around me. Genuine, hands-on Apple expertise as a certified technician, paired with the operational and people leadership to run technology for a fast-moving business. Strong on incident response, vendor management and bridging technical and non-technical teams.

EXPERIENCE

- Technology Operations Manager — Starling Bank

2023 – Present

 - Lead the technology operations team: 11 direct reports and 23 in total, supporting staff across multiple UK offices.
 - Designed and ran an international onboarding programme across time zones, working closely with the People and Facilities teams.
 - Own incident response and the day-to-day infrastructure that keeps a digital bank running, plus vendor and supplier relationships.
- Regional In-Store Technology Manager — Selfridges

2022 – 2023

 - Ran in-store technology across the North region with a team of six engineers.
 - Kept POS, networking and AV running through peak trading periods.
 - Supported premium brand events and VIP experiences where the technology simply had to work.
- IS&T Retail Store Operations & Genius — Apple

2016 – 2022

 - Progressed through Specialist, Technical Expert and Genius to Apple's corporate IS&T team over six years.
 - Apple Certified Mac Technician (ACMT): component-level Mac repair and iOS diagnostics using AST 2 and GSX.
 - Supported store technologies across the estate: networks, POS systems and back-of-house infrastructure.
 - Trained and mentored technical experts and specialists, which is where I found I most enjoyed the work.

WHAT I AM GOOD AT

OUTSIDE OF WORK

I build and run a small network of content sites (Male Optimal, GLP1 Guide) with a stack of AI automation behind them, and Bash Tutor, a tool to help dyslexic people use the command line. Away from a screen: making music and DJing, cooking, the gym, long walks, and collecting trainers.
